Frequently Asked Questions

Can XOOM Energy customers in different countries or states be used to earn the rebate?

Yes, any XOOM Energy customer in the U.S. and Canada of the same service (gas or electric service) that is qualified can be used toward the promotion.

What happens in a dual commodity market (gas and electricity)?

If the IBO has an active XOOM Energy account for both gas and electric service then they may be eligible to earn a rebate for both services. In order to receive rebate on their gas service, IBOs must enroll 10 qualified gas customers. To receive a rebate on their electric service, IBOs must enroll 10 qualified electric customers. The IBO and customers must meet all eligibility rules as described.

Do the points still apply for the rebated service?

Yes.

The XOOM Energy account at my residence is not in my name. Am I still eligible to receive the rebate?

Yes. The eligible account to receive a rebate is based on the IBO's address; so the XOOM Energy account can be in the name of the IBO's spouse or someone else at their address. The rebate payment will be sent, however, to the IBO.

Does the account at my residence count as a qualified customer?

No, you need to acquire 10 qualified customers in addition to the account at your residence to qualify for the promotion.

I have a second home that also has a XOOM Energy account. Can I use that as a qualified customer?

Yes, a second account in the IBO's name can count as a qualified customer if the account meets the requirements as a qualified customer.

XOOM Energy has the right to modify or end this program anytime at its discretion.
